

Writing Successful Abstracts

January 22, 6-7pm over Zoom

The Graduate School is partnering with the CWE to help graduate students submit strong applications to present at the 39th annual Graduate Research Day. The first step toward presenting on GRD is submitting a strong abstract about your research. Attend this virtual webinar on writing strong abstracts to learn concrete strategies for writing your research abstract. The presentation will include tips for choosing content, organizing and formatting, and writing clearly and concisely.
